

In Person Training

You handle the dog. We build the handler.

Loyal by Nature.

Who this is for

Private, in-person coaching for you and your dog, on the residential curriculum.

Owners who want to train their own dog rather than send it away.

Fully vaccinated dogs living at home, with no formal training or with habits that need correcting.

Owners who can commit to three sessions a week for at least a month, and daily practice in between.

Households that value consistency. Enrollment is per household, and everyone who lives with the dog is welcome in session.

This is not a shorter Residential Obedience. There, the habits are built before the dog reaches you. Here, the routine is yours from week one.

What you learn

Concepts, not a list of commands. Once you can teach one behavior, you can teach any.

THE CONCEPTS

Leash handling. How you hold, move, and stop the leash, so it communicates rather than restrains.

Marking. A clear signal at the exact moment your dog gets it right, so timing does the teaching.

Luring. Using food to guide your dog into position, then fading it until the behavior stands on its own.

Shaping. Rewarding what your dog offers on its own, and building on it.

Duration. Holding a position for longer, then adding distance and distraction.

Proofing. Making a behavior reliable when it matters, not only when it is easy.

With these in hand, Sit, Down, Heel, Come, Crate, and Place follow. The concepts are what you keep.

Built into the foundation

Some behaviors are not separate commands. They are built through structure and routine.

The steadiest habits are the ones your dog keeps without being asked. Alongside the trained commands, three behaviors take shape on their own, carried by daily structure and consistent handling rather than a cue.

Stay. Built into Sit, Down, and Place. Your dog holds position until released, without a separate cue.

Wait. Built through impulse control at thresholds. Your dog pauses at doorways, meals, and car exits as part of routine.

Quiet. Built through calm routine and structure. Your dog meets overstimulation with composure, not noise.

In this program these behaviors are built in your home, by you. The trainer shows the mechanics. The repetition happens between sessions.

How the program runs

*One month minimum. Three private sessions a week.
One hour each.*

12 sessions minimum. One-to-one at Cairo Canine Club, on fixed days and times agreed at enrollment. All 12 must be attended for results. The full course is 24.

Your household handles. You work your own dog for the full hour, and family members are encouraged to take the leash. The trainer coaches. The dog works for you.

Built-in distraction. Every session runs at the club. Balanced dogs, open grounds, kennels, and daily activity give you controlled distraction you cannot stage at home.

Daily practice. Short sessions at home between visits, following the plan set that week.

Rescheduling. 24 hours notice, and missed sessions are made up.

Built together

Real life staged on our grounds, with a trainer who comes to know you and your dog.

Balanced dogs. Our own trained dogs work at a set distance, so your dog learns calm around other dogs without the risk of a park.

Staff as strangers. Handlers play visitors, passers-by, and the friend at the door, on cue and as often as you need.

Kennels and activity. Barking, feeding time, and dogs in motion, the noise your dog has to work through.

Thresholds and cars. Gates, doorways, the car park, and feeding areas, ready for boundary and car work.

In person. The same trainer beside you for every hour, learning your dog as you do and correcting your hands in the moment.

The eight weeks

The first month builds the concepts. The second makes them hold under distraction.

WEEKS 1 TO 2 · FOUNDATION

Sessions 1 to 6. Leash handling, marking, luring, and shaping the behaviors your dog offers on its own. No commands are named yet. The home routine is set in week 1 and starts immediately.

WEEKS 3 TO 4 · NAMING

Sessions 7 to 12. Each behavior gets its command. You mark and reward with the lure as the word is introduced.

WEEKS 5 TO 6 · PROOFING

Sessions 13 to 18. Commands are proofed with the lure used half the time and marking carrying the rest. Mild distraction is introduced around the grounds.

WEEKS 7 TO 8 · REAL LIFE

Sessions 19 to 24. The lure is removed, marking and reward values rise, and high distraction is staged at the club for real life. A final working assessment with you handling.

What you receive

Steady communication through the course and after.

A written home plan on WhatsApp each week, listing exactly what to practice and for how long.

Progress notes after every session, and a written assessment at the end of your course.

Direct WhatsApp support for the full course.

Refresher sessions available on request.

No dog is perfect, and training is not a shortcut. This program prepares you to handle your dog, and builds the bond that makes the handling hold.

Your role

The owner is the program. There is no handover, because the routine never leaves your hands.

IN SESSION

You handle the dog for the full hour, and family members who share the home are encouraged to attend and handle too. Attending regularly is what makes progress compound. Each session builds on the last, and a missed week sets the work back.

BETWEEN SESSIONS

Daily practice at home, following the week's written plan. Short sessions done consistently outperform long sessions done occasionally.

THE BOND

Every hour on the leash is time your dog spends learning to read you. By the end, the commands are the smaller result. The larger one is a dog that looks to you first.

THE DEPENDENCY

Your dog mirrors what is reinforced at home. Session work cannot hold against six days a week of inconsistency.

The single largest factor in the outcome sits with you.
